This mission directive prescribes the mission, organization, and responsibilities for Air Force Reserve Command (AFRC) mission support squadrons/flights (MSS/MSF).

SUMMARY OF REVISIONS

This document is substantially revised and must be completely reviewed.

This revision changes units' assignment from support group to mission support group to comply with HQ USAF PAD 02-05, CSAF Direction to Establish New Combat Wing Organization Structure. It redesignates several squadrons as flights. A "[]" indicates revised material since the last edition.

1. Mission:

1.1. Peacetime. The primary mission of the MSS/MSF is to operate and maintain applicable mission support functions and facilities at AFRC host bases and tenant locations. This mission is accomplished according to directives and policies of the commander of the group to which assigned and/or higher headquarters. The MSS/MSF provides all the functions required to manage the base and provides base support and services to the mission, maintenance, and resource management parts of the wing/group.

1.2. Wartime/Emergencies. Governed by gaining command directives upon full or total mobilization.

2. Command. MSS/MSF are USAF-controlled AFRC units assigned to AFRC mission support groups. Their peacetime structure design maintains effective operations with the least expenditure of resources and minimizes organizational turbulence upon wartime mobilization. MSS/MSF functionally align for structural compatibility with their active duty counterparts.

3. Assigned Forces. While in peacetime status and during 2 weeks of annual training, MSS/MSF are under the direct control and supervision of the mission support group to which assigned. Under a Presidential call-up, pursuant to Title 10 U.S.C. 12304, administrative jurisdiction remains unchanged. Operational control transfers to the commander of the gaining command. Under mobilization authority, command jurisdiction transfers to the commander of the unit to which assigned.

4. Relationships to Other Units. Established command channels apply. Communicate directly with the active duty advisory unit/active duty advisors on matters relating to training, inspection, and safety. Send copy of such correspondence to the respective unit to which assigned.

JAMES E. SHERRARD III, Lt General, USAF
Commander
